CALIFORNIA ROADSIDE COUNCIL

San Francisco 27, California
September 13, 1961
Editor, Carmel Pine Cone:
Dear Madam:

The concern over control of roadside advertising in Monterey County, intensified by Judge Brazil's recent decision, has called forth a variety of suggested solutions to the problem. Assuming that the value of the county's unique scenic quality is appreciated by officials and the citizenry, we feel sure that the various proposals for protecting roadside beauty are made in all sincerity and with worthy objectives in mind. However, the most careful evaluation of the proposals is essential. If pursued indiscriminately, one method may work against another, and the final result may be wholly unsatisfactory.

"As an organization deeply involved in the problem, and with many Monterey County members, the California Roadside Council wishes to make its position clear.

The Monterey County zoning ordinance is, in our opinion, an excellent and a sound one. The distinction it makes between roadside signs and other "objectionable" roadside uses conditionally permitted in "U" zones is a logical distinction. A junk yard, for example, may or may not be a detriment to a highway's good appearance, according to its location; if at a distance or screened so as to be invisible, it can logically be permitted. A billboard, on the other hand, must by its nature be clearly visible; hence if one were permitted, all would necessarily be permitted. This distinction, unrecognized in Judge Brazil's decision, is, in the opinion of your County Counsel and our own legal advisors, entirely reasonable. It is fundamental to effective zoning as related to roadside control. Every effort should be directed toward vindication of the principle involved—for the benefit not only of Monterey County but of the entire state. Equally fundamental is the principle involved in the right to require removal of non-conforming billboards after a reasonable period for amortization—a right for which there is ample legal precedent.

Of first and essential importance, therefore, is concerted support of the County's appeal of this case. To diffuse the efforts by proposing new local legislation would be, we believe, ill-timed. If changes are desired, let them be considered only after the final judicial decision has been rendered. In fact, the nature of any possible changes would depend upon that final decision. The California Roadside Council, which assisted in preparing material for the case in Superior Court, again offers all-out assistance in preparing for this appeal. We believe, with your County Counsel, that there is a good chance of success, and we urge that citizen and official support alike be pointed to this end.

Carefully regulated and limited use of community signs giving essential information on motorist services has real justification. Especially we hope to see developed the "information site" recommended in the federal standards for interstate highways. However, the pending application for a per-

There are many practical difficulties to being an anthropologist, and many more to being a woman anthropologist.

A crew of six men digging a trench two feet deep, six feet wide and many yards long at some historic site will draw no comment from bystanders, who are usually satisfied the group is laying a utility line.

On the other hand, says Sylvia Broadbent of Carmel, of the same number of women doing the same thing, a long procession of the curious will constantly ask, "What ARE you girls doing?"

"Through the years I've been doing this, several good answers to this constant question have occurred to me," Dr. Broadbent says. "I could say, for instance, that we're planting a giant sequoia—sideways."

Patience usually prevails, however. Sylvia, a slender young assistant professor with curly brown hair and vestigial British accent, usually gives a straight answer, then turns back to her shovel.

Heading a "dig" at Carmel Mission in the summers of 1954 and 1955, the youthful anthropologist had it easy. A newspaper had carried a detailed account of what was going on, probably to allay the worst fears of freeway-conscious Carmelites.

"We hung up a clipping of the article on a nearby post and went on digging. People were too busy reading to bother us."

And neighbors who complained to police that squatters were camping in tents on what is now the Serra School ballfield, stringing their laundry and cooking their bacon in plain sight of anyone who cared to look, were quickly reassured when told the proceedings were in the interest of scholarship.

Youth Center Budget Passed To School Recreation Board

The question of whether the Carmel Youth Center will receive a requested $5,000 from the Carmel Unified School District for its 1961-62 budget remained unresolved today after school trustees last night referred the matter to the district's own Recreation Commission for a recommendation.

Following close on the board's unanimous vote for referral, initiated by Dr. Robert Newton and seconded by Dr. Richard Snyder, was a second action of the school board asking that several conditions be met by the Youth Center Adult Board prior to any Recreation Commission action.

The conditions were contained in a prepared statement by Dr. Newton which said in part:

"A year ago this board advised the Carmel Youth Center that it should not count on budgetary support from the school district this year. At the outset of its fund drive the center indicated it was proceeding on this basis.

"A letter sent to prospective donors stated that 'these funds have been cut off this year.' The same letter also stated that this year center members have earned the concession rights for all major events at Pebble Beach. The earn-

Mrs. Herbert Blanks Is New Member Of Carmel School Board

Mrs. Herbert (Roxie) Blanks will replace Mrs. Adrian Bennett on the board of the Carmel Unified School District.

Her appointment was announced by board president Dr. Grant Fletcher Wednesday evening after the board voted the choice unanimously.

The action followed a resolution by Dr. Richard Snyder commending Mrs. Bennett for her work with the board and wishing her and her family happiness in their new home at Buffalo, New York.

In passing the Youth Center's request for $5,000 on to the School District's own recreation board for careful scrutiny of the Youth Center budget, the school board is showing proper care in expenditure of school district funds. We applaud them. Our applause would be a little more enthusiastic, however, if the school district's own recreation budget of $48,000, raised by a ten cent special tax, received equally conscientious consideration.

Only half of the $48,000 is used for recreation purposes. A five cent tax would be adequate to maintain the school district's year-around recreation program in the same luxury it now enjoys.

Enrollment at Carmel schools went up only .03% percent, district board members learned last night.

Enrollment at all six schools was 2314 last year, 2396 this year.

High school enrollment rose from 722 to 753 and total enrollment at all the elementary schools from 1592 to 1643.

Carmelo rose from 116 to 163, River from 492 to 515 and Tularcitos from 457 to 458.

Sunset dropped from 303 students to 283, and Woods remained the same at 224.

Monterey County Planning Commission members, Tuesday, following protests of residents from Mal Paso Creek to the San Luis Obispo County line against the proposed Nathaniel A. Owings master plan for the coast, continued the hearing until November 14. Descendants of coast pioneers bitterly protested the land credit system in the Owings plan which would limit one house to ten acres of land on the ocean side of Highway One and advocates cluster development.

Commissioners indicated separate treatment of different areas along the coast may be desirable after hearing both proponents and opponents, about equal in number, of the Owings plan.

Two Naval officers, Lieutenant Commander Douglas J. Smith and Lieutenant Robert L. Johnson, both second year students in electronics engineering at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School and experienced pilots, lost their lives in a plane crash in Del Monte Forest Tuesday evening. Fire danger from combustible fumes to nearby homes and the forest was prevented by ten State Forestry Division units from Carmel Hill, Gonzales, King City, Castroville and Tularcitos stations.

The flyers were on a standard instrument approach to Monterey Airport when they crashed in fog near the home of Ian Belangee, Carmel High School electronics instructor.

Among other community activities, Mrs. Blanks has been a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee to the school board; been active in the P-TA for 17 years and held office as secretary and treasurer in this organization.

Mrs. Blanks has been treasurer and observer of Carmel Unified School District meetings for the League of Women Voters; on the executive board of the Church of the Wayfarer and department superintendent of the church's Sunday School. She now teaches a Sunday School class with her husband, Herbert Blanks, chairman of the Carmel Planning Commission. She was a Cub Scout den mother for six years.

Her oldest son, George, is attending San Jose State College after serving three years with the U. S. Army following graduation from Carmel High School. Her second son, Bert, also a Carmel High School graduate, is a student at Chico State College. Her youngest son, Don, is a freshman at Carmel High School. She has had children in schools of the Carmel system for 17 years and now is serving on the goals and trends committee of the Citizens Educational Committee.

Mrs. Blanks was born in southern Monterey County at Parkfield where her father had ranching interests. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes, are now residents of Clarksburg near Sacramento where Mrs. Blanks grew up and attended grade and high school.

She graduated from the University of California with a bachelor's

PADRE GRID TEAMS AT PG FRIDAY NIGHT

With the accent on participation for all, Carmel High's 80-man football squad travels to Pacific Grove Friday night for an evening of head-knocking with the arch-rival Breakers. Starting at 8:00 o'clock, there will be two continuous hours of football as the two Carmel varsity squads square off against two Breaker varsity squads, and two Padre Junior-varsity teams set up to take the place of the annual CCAL Jamboree which was discontinued when the B-League, succeeded from the grid festival.

Friday night's game-type scrimmage will be the first outing for the Carmel lads and will serve to give varsity mentor Hadley Hicks and Jayvee Coach Fred Rainer a chance to evaluate their charges when faced with enemy fire. The Padre gridgers have gone through three weeks of spirited workouts and are anxious to try their muscles against the Red and Gold Breaker squad.

Varsity A squads will open the action, playing a twelve-minute quarter before giving way to the B squads. Manning the Padre A squad will be starters Tony Belluci and Rich Shively, ends; Terry Tweedie and Jim Kelley, tackles; Bill Muscutt and Dick Loffelmacher, guards; Dave Harris, center; Bob Larson, quarterback; Rick Baldwin, left halfback; George Pollock, right halfback; and Terry Bishop, fullback. Others ready for action will be Charlie Davis and Jack Hinchcliff, guards; Mike Escondon, halfback; Bob Wakefield, center; and Mike Taaffe, end.

Carmel's varsity B squad will open with John Hackbarth and Pete Conway, ends; Pete Morse and Ray Eaton, tackles; Bob Albee and Clayton Hilbert, guards; Bart Whalen, center; Bob Palma, quarterback; Dave Terry and Steve Fairfield, halfbacks; and Lee Olson, fullback. Providing reserve strength will be Rowland Boreis, guard; Art Catron, end; Jim Trivette, center; and David Harber, halfback.

NATIONAL AMATEUR FINALS AT PEBBLE BEACH SATURDAY

A new National Amateur Golf Champion will be crowned Saturday afternoon when the 36-hole finals of the week-long Amateur Championships is slated to unfold at the Pebble Beach Golf Course. Deane Beman, 1960 National Amateur Champ, ran afoul of scrambling Billy Joe Patton Tuesday afternoon and lost a 2 up decision to the Morgantown, N.C. shot-maker. The Beman-Patton match was nip-and-tuck all the way with neither player able to get more than a one up lead until the final hole. Patton took a one up lead at the 12th hole and scrambled to hold the defending champion even until the 18th. On the par-5 18th, Patton was on in regulation figures and Beman conceded the match after finding the trap on his third shot.

California's tournament favorites, Harvie Ward Jr. of San Francisco and Dr. Frank Taylor of Pomona, survived the first two rounds and both are getting plenty of gallery support to root them into the finals. In his first two matches, Ward disposed of George Creagh of Nashville, Tenn. 5-4, and breezed to a 7-5 win over Harlan Lane of Houston, Tex. Dr. Taylor survived a shaky round to edge Marshall Trammell of Nashville, Tenn., 2-1.

Gallery favorite, Chick Evans, playing in his 49th National Amateur, was eliminated in the first round as James McCarthy of Joliet, Illinois defeated the former champion, 5-4. San Jose's youthful Dick Lotz got off to a good start by tripping John Farquhar of Amarillo, Texas, 2-1. Farquhar shot his way into the semi-finals in the 1960 Amateur and figured to outsteady the San Jose belter.

With perfect golfing weather prevailing for the tournament, record crowds are anticipated for Friday and Saturday's play when the pressure-packed 36-hole semifinal and final rounds get underway. This is the third time in its 61-year history that the National Amateur has been played at picturesque Pebble Beach and upsets on this course are the rule rather than the exception.

EX-PADRE STARS IN MPC INTRASQUAD GAME

Showing his accurate throwing arm which led Carmel High to an undefeated season last season, quarterback Frank Bucher stole the spotlight at Monterey Peninsula College's intrasquad game last Saturday night when he passed for two touchdowns and handled the signal-calling chores with the poise of a veteran pro quarterback. With Bucher's passing and Jerry Colletto's running, the Maroon squad powered to a 26-6 win over the outmanned Whites.

Bucher took over the quarterbacking duties in the third period and engineered two scores with a deft mixture of running and passing plays. A 30-yard sideline pass to Colletto produced one six-pointer and a pinpoint aerial to Len Newman put another score on the board for the Maroon gang.

Other Carmel High grads seeing action in the intrasquad were Dave Hansen, Joe Parga, and Fred Bucher. Hansen showed good drive (Continued on Page Three)

Edward Kuster

Edward Gerhard Kuster, 83, died of a heart attack on September 7 in Lugano, Switzerland, shortly before he was to return to Carmel, his home for 41 years, and which he made famous as a little theatre center through his efforts as a producer, theatre owner and actor.

Mr. Kuster retired from the practice of law in Los Angeles in 1920 and came to live here. In 1923, he opened the first Theatre of the Golden Bough in the court by the same name on Ocean Avenue, also established a summer school of the theatre under the direction of Maurice Browne. He studied production in Germany, directed at the Max Reinhardt Workshop of the Theatre in Hollywood and translated the Thirpny Opera from the original German for production in Carmel, 30 years before it was produced elsewhere in the United States.

A former cello player with the Los Angeles Philharmonic, Mr. Kuster played here with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, also with chamber music groups.

Mr. Kuster was born in Terre Haute, Indiana, on August 15, 1878. He came with his parents to live in Los Angeles when he was eight years old and graduated from public schools in that city in 1896. In 1900 he was granted a law degree by the University of California. For the next 20 years he was associated with Kuster, Loeb and Loeb, a Los Angeles law firm now known as Loeb and Loeb.

He inherited a love of music and the theatre from his mother and his father, a Civil War surgeon. This interest developed when he was taken to Europe at the age of 11 and remained there until he was 13. Through high school he was an avid theatregoer in Los Angeles. Twelve years after he returned there as an attorney, he was asked to do legal work for Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn who were organizing their Denishawn school of the dance and headquarters in Southern California. Through this association Edward Kuster developed an interest in staging and with Louis Horst, Denishawn musical director, in discovering Oriental music suitable for Denishawn productions.

Mr. Kuster volunteered for service with the U.S. Army during World War I and was assigned to duty with the artillery two days before the signing of the Armistice. Shortly afterwards, as a result of severe attack of flu, he was ordered by his physician to recuperate in Hawaii. While in the Hawaiian Islands, he decided to come to live in Carmel, where he already owned property, and to devote himself to his interest in little theatre. He chose Carmel "As a community more preoccupied with theatre than any place in the United States before or since."

In 1922, Edward Kuster, then president of the Forest Theater Association, produced Caesar and Cleopatra at Carmel's outdoor theatre. The following year he studied at the San Francisco School of the Theatre under Maurice Browne, spent weekends acting in plays at the Arts and Crafts Hall in Carmel while his Theatre of the Golden Bough was being built.

In 1923, he opened the Theatre of the Golden Bough, acclaimed as the loveliest small theater in the United States, and brought Maurice Browne and other members of the San Francisco School of the Theatre to Carmel to teach and produce plays.

In 1927, Mr. Kuster went to Berlin to study play production and in 1929 returned to Carmel to establish, in 1930, the Studio Theatre of the Golden Bough in the former Arts and Crafts Hall on Monte Verde Street as the original Golden Bough Theatre had been leased for the showing of motion pictures.

Through 1931, he directed productions at his studio theatre which included Beggar on Horseback and the Thirpny Opera which he translated from German. Some of the productions of this period he also presented in San Francisco in 1933. The following year he directed the Fresno Players.

In 1935, a disastrous fire destroyed the original Golden Bough Theatre during a Kuster stage production of By Candlelight.

Mr. Kuster then took over the playhouse on Monte Verde Street and ran it as the West Coast's first art movie theatre, also had a little theatre in San Francisco. In 1938 and 1939, he directed American and British Plays at the Max Reinhardt Workshop of the Theatre in Hollywood, then, in 1940, established the Golden Bough Playhouse here on Monte Verde Street. For the next nine years he operated this theatre with stage productions on Monday evenings, outstanding motion picture showings the rest of the week.

Then, for a second time, he suffered the loss of a theatre by fire, by a strange coincidence, again of severe attack of flu, he was ordered by his physician to recuperate in Hawaii. While in the Hawaiian Islands, he decided to come to live in Carmel, where he already owned property, and to devote himself to his interest in little theatre. He chose Carmel "As a community more preoccupied with theatre than any place in the United States before or since."

The Lobos drew a bye this week, but will take on a tough one on September 23 when the strong College of the Sequoias invades the MPC Stadium for the season opener. In the rugged Coast JC Conference, Coach George Porter's small squad will be stacked against such big ones as San Jose City College, Foothill, Diablo, and Valjejo. The Lobos have fine running speed, good passing, are strong through the middle defensively, but appear short on size and depth.

SELECT LITTLE LEAGUE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

At Monday night's meeting of the Little League Association, a new Board of Directors was voted in for the 1962 season and plans were made for the separation of the Pony League Board from the Little League Board. Although the Little League and Pony League Boards will act separately, both will have three representatives from each other's boards in order to co-ordinate the activities of the two leagues.

Elected to the 1962 Little League Board were Bill Woolsey, Dr. Charles Pearson, Dick Wright, George Mosell, Orville Jones, Lew McCreery, Cmdr. Fred Culver, Bob Connell, Joe McElidowney, Walter Pilot, Manager's Representatives, Art Carpenter and Dick Rother. Farm League Representative, Lee McCue, and Umpire Representative, Mark Johnston. A Little while By Candlelight was being presented on the stage.

Undaunted, Mr. Kuster headed the organization of a corporation to rebuild the second Golden Bough Theatre. Three hundred and seventy-five shareholders, predominantly local persons, aided this venture which added to the main theater for movie and stage presentations, a small arena theatre, known as the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. This operation, opened in 1962, Mr. Kuster managed until 1966. In 1967, he resigned from the board of directors in order that he might be free to travel. Since that time, he and his wife, Gabrielle Young-Hunter Kuster, have twice been to Europe for extended visits.

In addition to Mrs. Kuster, he is survived by a son, Colin Kuster of San Luis Obispo; a daughter, Marcia, married to Frederick Rider and living in Carmel; and three grandchildren, Scott Edward and Jayanne Gabrielle Kuster and Kate Young-Hunter Rider.

Funeral services for Mr. Kuster were held in Lugano on Saturday. Mrs. Kuster will remain abroad until next month, staying at the English Speaking Union in London.

Sewer Connections At New Junior Hi May Cost $90,000

Last night the school board was placed in a financial quandary, a potential severe blow to the pocket-book in the amount of a possible $90,000 if the district decides to plan for a major trunk sewer line with the Carmel Sanitary District to service the new junior high school site at the mouth of Carmel Valley.

Presenting a progress report on a sewage study being conducted for the district by the Kennedy Engineering firm, engineer Bruce Collins told trustees of two alternative plans for the line, one calling for the addition of a pumping station and costing $257,000, and another utilizing an existing pumping station and costing $171,000.

The sums quoted are for the whole project, Collins said, and the cost to be borne by the school would depend on how many additional property owners could be invited to join in the cost of the trunk line and other factors, but the estimated school cost would fall around $85,000 to $90,000.

Faced with an onrushing deadline for beginning construction at the new school site (now fixed at November 1) and having previously planned for a sewer bill in the neighborhood of $25,000, the board asked Collins' firm to make an additional study (cost for which is not to exceed a $500 addition to the present Kennedy study which is costing the district $2000) of the possibility of using a package treatment plant or septic tank at the school.

Also speaking on the subject of the new school, architect Thomas Elston of the firm of Elston-Cranston showed finalized plans for the school as they were approved recently by the state board on school architecture. Minor changes were necessary in the gym area, Elston said. Certain lockers were rearranged to cut down on crowding and other changes made as a safety measure to avoid wet traffic from the pool crossing dry traffic. Also for safety, a view of the pool will be made possible from nearby offices. The pool is not, however, in construction plans to be paid for out of the present bond issue but will be a future addition.

Reporting on the Carmel Adult School, director Charles Dawson reported a heavy and growing enrollment despite the school's having raised tuition per class from $1.00 to $5.00 this year, although, he said, the raised fee may be reflected in a cut-back in the number of persons taking more than one class.

Only three classes failed to meet enrollment requirements: advanced Spanish, advanced French and citizenship. The last, which has ten enrollees, will be continued, the board decided.

The board rescinded an action of last meeting granting Monterey Peninsula College use of high school facilities for adult school courses of its own, at the request of the college, which has indicated it prefers the remuneration should be made after the school year is over and be based on "actual and necessary costs."

In the audience last night was a group of Parents Club members from Carmelo School, who requested a change in bus stops in the Farm Center area. A spokesman for the group explained that a stop was desired near the Holt tract away from the valley highway rather than at the Farm Center itself where young students have to cross an unguarded bridge with no pedestrian path in order to get to the bus. The board promised the matter would be investigated but indicated that a request to the county for safety devices on the bridge might be a more feasible solution.

Also at Carmelo School, the board voted to hire an additional teacher to assume part of the burden presented when vice principal Peter Glod's fifth-sixth grade

"One hundred candles?" queries Buzz Rainer, director of the summer recreation softball program at Sunset School, questioning David Goldman, center, while Danny Yurkovich, right, ponders the enigma during a party given by David's mother, Mrs. Sylvia Goldman, just before school started. David answered that although he was only eight years old that day, the birthday cake puzzling Mr.

Rainer and Danny had on it a candle for each boy in the softball program, also for Mr. Rainer and his assistant, Danny Holman.

David had such a good time playing ball with them all summer that he wanted them at his birthday party. Mrs. Goldman arranged to have the celebration at the High School. Swimming in the pool was followed by a supper of hot dogs and barbecued spare ribs with the cake, divided into 100 pieces with a candle on each piece, for dessert.

Cathy Goldman, David's sister, helped her mother entertain the boys. David is a River School third grader, now, with wonderful memories of summer softball and a tremendous party.

also survived by two brothers, D. C. Wood of Sioux Falls, South Dakota and John W. Wood of Austin, Minnesota.

Funeral services were held this morning in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Dr. Joseph M. Ewing, pastor of the Carmel Presbyterian Church, officiated at the rites. Burial will be in the family plot in Hartford Cemetery, Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Wood may do so in the form of donations to the American Cancer Research Society, Box 1028, Monterey.

Kate To Be Tamed In Western Costume At Golden Bough

The problem of Shakespeare in modern dress is proving no problem at all to the cast of The Taming of the Shrew, which opens Friday evening at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. Headed by Marcia Hovick and Nick Zanides, the fifteen actors are finding that Shakespeare's tale of a hot-headed beauty and the cool audacious wife-hunter who brings her to heel takes on added zest and meaning when she wears the mantilla of a Spanish-American spitfire and he is dressed as a Texas rancher. Petruchio, a man of action but few words, is a part that might have been written, by a latter-day Shakespeare, for Gary Cooper. With this in mind, director Frederick Rider has assembled a production which features Nick LeFeuvre as a Spanish gentleman of old Monterey, Rider himself as a moon-struck Mexican, and Chalmers Stover as a tipping pitchman on the run from the U.S. marshals.

Without altering Shakespeare's text, the Circle actors will attempt to heighten the fun of his venerable farce by accentuating the similarities between his Anglo-Italian Renaissance characters and the assorted types to be found in any Western movie. Such types come easily to Coloradans Mike Benson and Lane White, cast as the trusty side-kicks Tranio and Grumio, to Al Holiday as the doddering Gremio and Steve Hansen as the diletante Hortensio. Nicola Harrison plays Bianca as a flirtatious senorita, and Jim McClain's Blondegio is a bright-eyed barefoot peon under a wide sombrero.

Mildred Cushing, Linda Stover, Gay Coggin, Clonnie Lambert, Joe Moyle and Edwin Allison are cast respectively as a mannish housekeeper on Petruchio's ranch, a "lusty widow" draped in black lace, a Navajo houseboy, a wealthy merchant from south of the border, a dandified tailor and an unpolished ranchhand. Innumerable costumes have been assembled with the help of local historians as well as seamstresses, in order to transform Shakespeare's romantic images of Padua and Verona into the equally colorful and more familiar images of California and Texas a century ago.

UNITED CHURCH WOMEN MEET

First meeting in the year's program of the United Church Women of the Monterey Peninsula will be at St. James Episcopal Church, Franklin and High Streets, Monterey, September 22, beginning with coffee and a social half hour at 11:00 o'clock, followed by the business meeting.

Abandoning the custom of past years of having a sack lunch at 12:30, the hostess church will serve a simple lunch at a modest charge. A baby sitter will be provided by the church, provided request for such service is made beforehand. Reservations for the lunch and baby sitter service must be made with Mrs. Petersen, FR 2-0238, by noon Wednesday, September 20.

The afternoon program will begin at 1:30 with program and speaker. Most of the women's organizations of the Protestant churches on the peninsula are affiliated with U.C.W., and all women who are interested in the work are invited to attend.

Isabel Leidig

Funeral services for Mrs. Isabel Leidig, wife of Robert Leidig, Carmel fire marshal, and member of the Martin family who came to Monterey County in 1856, were held yesterday afternoon in the Paul Funeral Chapel. The Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, officiated. Honorary pallbearers were Judge Gordon Campbell, John D. Campbell, Dr. R. A. Kocher, Corum Jackson and Robert Little. Active pallbearers were Ivan Kelsey, Robert Waldo Hicks, Carl Rohr, Leonard Williams, Gene D. Ricketts and Robert Norton. Burial took place in the family plot in Cementerio El Encinal.

Mrs. Leidig died unexpectedly of a heart attack Monday morning in her home at Ocean Avenue and Dolores Street. She was born on February 12, 1882, and was the only daughter of John and Elizabeth Martin, who raised eight sons on the Mission Ranch south of Carmel. The only surviving member of this family is Carmel Martin, a Monterey attorney. Another brother, Roy Martin, a Carmel Valley rancher, died on August 1.

Her grandparents, William and Agnes Martin, came from Scotland to Canada in 1840. Sixteen years later they migrated to Monterey County where Mr. Martin acquired land at the mouth of the Pajaro, Salinas and Carmel rivers. It was on this latter property that Mrs. Leidig's parents settled and she was born. The family home still stands west of Carmel Mission Basilica.

She attended Bay School at the mouth of San Jose Creek. Her father was one of the first trustees of this school which was also a social center for the community.

On October 20, 1910, Isabel Martin and Robert Leidig, who came to Carmel in 1904 with his widowed mother and three brothers to open Carmel's first grocery store, were married at the Mission Ranch. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last year at a party given for them by their daughter, Mrs. Raymond Draper, at La Playa Hotel, also at a dinner party at the Mission Ranch. The latter occasion was the first time Mrs. Leidig had visited her former home since it became a resort.

Mr. Leidig served as chief of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department for over 40 years before he became fire marshal. He and Mrs. Leidig were planning soon to go to Oregon to attend the wedding of their grandson, Robert Leidig, who is a student at Oregon State College in Corvallis. Apparently in fine health, Mrs. Leidig's death was a shock to her family and many friends made over a lifetime in Carmel where her kind, gentle personality endeared her to all whom she knew.

Besides her husband and daughter in Carmel, and her grandson in Oregon, she is survived by four grandchildren, Ted Leidig, and Wendy, Michael and Susan Draper, all of Carmel; also many nieces and nephews. A son, Martin Robert Leidig, died in 1946. Another son, Ted Leidig was killed in action in 1943 while flying with the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Leidig may do so in the form of donations to the New Community Hospital Building Fund, Box HH, Carmel.

THE ARROWHEAD

Heart-shaped obsidian, hewn by a brown tribesman,
Climbed to a shaft of straight ash, hurled by yew,
Might leave quail feathers quivering on a tyrant.
It rested for centuries under cool manzanita,
The red stains of doe's blood rinsed by centuries,
None considering when it had burst through a mountain,
Flowing into a golden sky.

Black arrowheads, volcanic glass, amusing curios,
Powered by knotted muscles of modern Cains
Might pierce the hearts of brother tyrants, brother saints;
Might serve as final agents of love, hate, or greed,
Or cast down some figment of vanity forever,
Serving some purpose beyond mountains and golden skies.

—A. J. WAGNER.

AUGUST IS A CITY STREET

By the day the street slid feverish,
A tongue slick-scraping heat
Past houses blistered dumb,
Where breathing was become a flame of dust
And hours, the slow fuel feeding it.
Then, toward the hearth-side time,
Returning twilight trailed a purple breeze
Across that pavement, dampening
The throat too long dry, cleansing voicelessness.
One upflung window rattled, doors
Began to bang, staccato shouts
Blew joy about, boys batted calls,
Two mothers gossiped aprons, step to step;
Till all at once the walks wore polka-dots
Of rain, and street-lamps lit folk scurrying in.
Soon pattering was an evensong, where dark
Flowed sweet and cool along reviving homes.

—HELEN FAULKNER.

ISLAND US EVER*

Island us ever in the sea of love,
Cradled by moon and slow syndrome of tide.
Levee with rock below and earth above vulnerable shores touching the water's side.
Oh, suffer not this bright substantial land to crumble, nibbled by a hungry sea, to waste itself as grains of playbox sand spill through a child's fingers and fall free.
Buttress this isle to meet the angry shock of earthquake and the clutch of tidal wave.
Send roots of cypress hope to find the rock arching through watery dark its questing nave.

Island us ever, separate but not alone, washed by the sea, rooted in parent stone.

—B. JO KINNICK

The smothered streams of love which flow
More bright than Phlegethon, more low,
Island us ever, like the sea
In an Atlantic mystery.—THOREAU

Sylvia Broadbent A Digging Scientist

Sylvia, a Carmel High School graduate of the class of 1948, is spending part of the summer in her home town visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Solomon, and readying some original work for publication prior to teaching at Barnard College, Columbia University, in the fall.

Her adventures in anthropology (a field she chose over medicine even after completing a pre-med course and being admitted to medical college) have already been plentiful, both in school and out.

Born in London in 1932, Sylvia Marguerite Broadbent moved to Carmel with her family as a teenager. She was a Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi member at the University of California, where she graduated with two majors, anthropology and pre-medicine, in 1952, with highest honors in anthropology.

She did graduate work at Cal, specializing in Andean culture history, linguistics and primitive medicine, obtaining a Ph.D. degree there in 1960. As a dissertation, she compiled a Grammar of Southern Sierra Miwok, after living and working with the dwindling tribe of Indians in Mariposa County.

With another scholar, she also published a Central Sierra Miwok Dictionary, and a linguistic study, Comparative Miwok.

Dr. Broadbent spent most of last year in Colombia, South America, researching among the Chibcha Indians under a Doherty Foundation fellowship, and the work which occupies her now in Carmel springs from this trip and concerns the archeology of the Chibcha region and a comparison between the Miwok and Winth linguistic families.

When she leaves for her autumn job in New York as assistant professor in anthropology at Barnard, it will mark her first return to teaching since 1954-56, when she was an assistant in physical anthropology at Cal, except for the spring quarter this year when she taught briefly at Northwestern University.

As for the archeological part of her career, Miss Broadbent says exploratory digging is her favorite activity. "It's not only what you find," she says, "but how you find it. Position and condition of artifacts can tell many things." For this reason and others, a lady anthropologist must wield her own shovel rather than hiring a bulldozer or a muscular gardener and telling him, "Dig here."

Nor is an anthropologist's concern with the past exclusively. The Chibcha Indians, she says, have by now evolved into a group of mestizo peasants. Their Chibcha language has been extinct since the 18th Century. Yet their interest in themselves as a group and in their own future is tremendous.

They are doing spectacular things in community development, building schools and caring for their health, all with a minimum of stimulus from outsiders, according to Dr. Broadbent.

She hopes for an early return to Colombia some future summer to see how the Chibchas are faring.

A polygot of course, she has no difficulty communicating with the people she goes among. In addition to the well-known languages of Europe and the Western Hemisphere, she can handle some of the extinct and moribund tongues she has helped compile.

It may be no help to the average person to know, for instance, that "hasyny" means abalone in Miwok, but that "hasny," a similar word, means to mash pinenuts. It doesn't even mean much to a Miwok any more, according to Sylvia, who says there are only about 20 Miwoks left who can speak the language, all of them at least 45 or older. Another few years and nobody will be able to speak Miwok but anthropologists.

GOES TO FLORENCE

A week from today, Nicki Wilson will leave Carmel and the next day, with a group of Stanford University students, fly from San Francisco to Europe. She will spend the next six months studying at the Stanford-in-Italy campus in Florence.

Nicki is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick N. Wilson and a sophomore at Stanford.

Public Invited To Annual Meeting Of Nature Conservancy

The Annual Meeting of the Monterey Bay Chapter of the Nature Conservancy will be held in the Music Room of the Carmel High School on Friday evening, September 22 at 8:00 o'clock. The speaker of the evening will be Dr. Herbert L. Mason of the University of California Botany Department, who is Co-chairman of the Western Administrative Board of the Nature Conservancy. His subject will be Conservation Problems of New Zealand and the program will be illustrated with slides. Dr. Mason has recently spent a year in New Zealand studying these problems.

The Nature Conservancy cordially invites anyone interested in its purpose and activities, whether a member or not, to attend the meeting as its guest. Its purpose, as stated in its publication, is "to preserve natural areas as living museums". Such tracts are valuable for their scientific, educational and aesthetic values.

The chairman of the local chapter is C. Edward Graves of Carmel, and the secretary is Miss Beatrice Howitt of Pacific Grove. Officers for the coming year will be elected at the meeting and a report will be made on the activities of the group during the past year.

PG POLIO CLINIC TONIGHT

A polio clinic in Pacific Grove, directed by the Monterey County Health Department and sponsored by Pacific Grove Boosters, will be held tonight from 5:30 to 8:00 o'clock at the Masonic Temple, Lighthouse and Central avenues.

First, second, third or booster shots are available. Persons who received their first Salk vaccine at the July clinic are reminded that their second shot is now due. Children must have written consent of parents or guardians to receive the vaccination.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The nature of God as Spirit, not matter, will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services.

Opening the Biblical selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" are these verses from Exodus (20): "And God spake all these words saying. . . Thou shalt have no other gods before me. . . Ye shall not make with me gods of silver, neither shall ye make unto you gods of gold."

This citation will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (pp. 199, 200): "When Homer sang of the Grecian gods, Olympus was dark, but through his verse the gods became alive in a nation's belief. Pagan worship began with muscularity, but the law of Sinai lifted thought into the song of David. Moses advanced a nation to the worship of God in Spirit instead of matter, and illustrated the grand human capacities of being bestowed by immortal Mind."

Music On The Peninsula

By MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra's first rehearsal of the season was the scene at Sunset Auditorium last Monday of an unusual happening anywhere. The departing conductor, Ronald Ondrejka, and the incoming conductor, John Gosling, who had only arrived in Carmel at 5:00 o'clock, shared the evening's conducting. There was a good turnout of musicians and a spirit of friendship and adventure was rife. President Eugene Harrah addressed the orchestra and presented many of the interested workers personally to Mr. and Mrs. Gosling. Mr. Harrah had worked very quickly to secure a conductor when Ondrejka received an appointment to the larger, professional orchestra at Buffalo. Many expressed regret at Ondrejka's departure for the orchestra and attendance by the public had progressed much all year.

Knowing the Agriculture Department Orchestra, as well as the National, when living in Washington, where this writer reported them both for the Musical Leader, we can say that Gosling's association with them and conductorship following Dr. Fall's of the Agricultural group is a good recommendation. He went to work Monday with energy and confidence with the orchestra personnel responding earnestly. The Peninsula, therefore, looks forward to another interesting season of concerts in this growing music center.

The San Francisco Opera opens its thirty-ninth annual season tomorrow (Friday) with a new production of Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. Joan Sutherland was to have sung her first Lucia in the United States, but illness in London has postponed her appearance, and Anna Moffo, flown from Milan, will take her place. Moffo is a favorite at La Scala, the Met and other important opera houses. She first sang Lucia with the Chicago Opera.

Blood Moon, contemporary Dello Joio, to receive its World premiere at the eighteenth, the first world premiere the San Francisco Company has ever given, offered through the Ford Foundation for American Music. This writer hopes to attend and report it. Many on the Peninsula are attending the City's Opera this season as usual.

Daniel Llorca, the internationally known marionettist, who now considers his Cannery Row workshop his headquarters, is preparing for a world premiere in December with the Victoria British Columbia Symphony Orchestra a concerto specially composed for puppets. Both Haydn and Mozart in their day wrote for puppets, but none has been known of since the untimely death of Roger P. Dennis, working with Llorca has completed a modern work based on the folk herit story of Frankie and Johnny. Dennis, who is a serious musician with published and successful works, is professor of theory and composition and chairman of the department of music at Wisconsin State College, where he and Llorca first met. The concerto in established form will be staged in the fun-loving period of the Twenties. It was commissioned by Llorca to whom it is dedicated, and we hope it will sometime be given by the Monterey County Orchestra that so successfully staged Puppets International last season that drew sold-out houses.

GUEST SPEAKER SUNDAY AT ALL SAINTS'

Guest preacher at All Saints' Episcopal Church on Sunday will be the Reverend Lesley Wilder, Jr., rector of St. Matthew's parish in San Mateo. Mr. Wilder is a noted preacher, having been assistant at St. Thomas' Church, Fifth Avenue, New York City, and special Lenten preacher at the famous Trinity Church in Boston for several years.

Mr. Wilder's pioneer work in parish day schools in Northern California brings him to the Monterey Peninsula. At 8:00 Sunday morning he will address a special Corporate Communion for board members of the Bishop Kip School and vestrymen from the two sponsoring parishes, St. Mary's in Pacific Grove and All Saints' in Carmel. At 11:00 o'clock he will be preacher at All Saints'. During World War II he was Chaplain in the United States Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Robin Way At Home

Following a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Elwood Way are at home in San Francisco. They were married on September 3 in the chapel at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School. Commander Hedges Capers, Chaplain Corps, USN, performed the ceremony at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon with family members and a few close friends attending.

Tall urns filled with white gladioli, chrysanthemums and stock framed the bridal couple as they recited wedding vows before the altar decorated with Fuji chrysanthemums. Mrs. John E. Elmore played the wedding music.

The former Susan Jane Sharp was given in marriage by her stepfather, Captain Robert D. Risser, USN. She wore a bell-skirted sheath dress and short fitted jacket of white Tribute silk brocade brought from China by her godmother when Sue was six months old. Her bouffant, waist-length veil fell from a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of butterfly orchids and miniature ivy.

Her maid of honor, Constance Carpenter, had on a bell-skirted gown of deep aqua peau de soie. Her headdress and shoes matched her dress and pale yellow carnations were used for her nosegay bouquet.

Elizabeth Risser, the bride's sister, was junior bridesmaid. She wore an aqua dress with ecru lace appliques. Her bouquet was similar to that of the maid of honor.

Dr. Eric Berne was best man for his stepson, Gary Bradburn, a former Carmel High School classmate of the bridegroom, ushered guests to their seats.

Mrs. Risser attended her daughter's marriage in an emerald green lace cocktail suit, matching shoes and a green and blue feather hat.

Mrs. Berne, the bridegroom's mother, was clad in a taupe ribbed silk dress which had a boat neck and bell skirt. A velvet flowered hat and tapestry shoes and bag completed her costume.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the Copper Cup Room at the Naval School after which Sue changed for traveling to a black and white tweed suit, white fur hat and black patent leather shoes and bag.

Sue graduated from Sullins Junior College in Bristol, Virginia, in June, after attending schools in Hawaii, Washington, D.C. and King George High School in Virginia. She is now associated with the Emporium's merchandise training program in San Francisco.

Robin is a 1958 graduate of Carmel High School. He attended Monterey Peninsula College and served with the U.S. Coast Guard before studying for a year at the University of Lausanne in Switzerland. Last year he was a student at the University of Idaho and will continue his language and political science studies at San Francisco State College this year.

Lyman grovers In Tahiti

A letter from Florence Lyman grover from Papeete reports that she and her husband, Paul, are enjoying a visit in Tahiti. Florence says, "To me it is just too exciting... all the beauty and the lovely yachts at anchor in the harbor. Paul, having been here before, seems to know everyone and that makes it much more attractive to me."

Carmel's Newest Citizens

During the past few weeks additions to the local population have resulted from births of five boys and three girls at Community and Monterey hospitals.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Wise are the parents of a boy, Steven Robert Wise, born at Monterey Hospital on August 24.

David James Warner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Freeman Warner of Mission Fields. He was born on August 31 at Monterey Hospital.

Carmel Realtors Meet

The monthly meeting of the Carmel Board of Realtors was held on Friday at Pine Inn. Following the luncheon a most interesting and comprehensive talk was given by guest speaker, Donald Stewart, County Property Tax Assessor from Salinas. He covered the recent reappraisal of property in the Carmel City area and discussed methods used in arriving at the current evaluations.

Many discussions have been held by the Carmel Board of Realtors on suggestions of how it might improve the beauty of Carmel. For example, the use of hanging flower baskets in the downtown area, or plantings placed on Ocean Avenue from Junipero to Carpenter Streets. Discussions are still open and any suggestions will be greatly appreciated by the group.

The yearly picnic get-together of the Carmel Board of Realtors will be held tonight in Carmel Valley.

Kiwans Rummage Pickup

Mr. Gosling is enthusiastic about Carmel, its "friendly" people, the potentiality of the symphony and prospects of the coming orchestra season. Susan, a second grader, is already enrolled in Woods School.

P-TA Military Emergency Meeting

A combined meeting of River School, Woods School, Sunset School P-TA units will be held at Sunset School Auditorium Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Of interest to all parents of the district will be the subject for discussion, School Plans for Military Emergency. Presentation of Carmel in a disaster situation will be made by Mr. Mitchell, superintendent of Carmel school district. Mr. Wayne Greenfield, assistant superintendent, Mr. Goodrich, director of transportation, and Mrs. Warren Edwards, chairman of Civilian Defense.

Mrs. Edwards, who is now teaching two classes on Family Survival under the Carmel Adult School program, will outline a concise plan that individual families can adapt for their own requirements. She hopes to clarify the immediate need of a scheduled program for each child.

Mr. Goodrich will state the problem of transportation in a military emergency. He will also elaborate on the forms which were sent to all parents last spring, especially in relation to those whose children ride school buses. A question and answer period will follow the panel discussion. All parents are urged to attend and participate in this pertinent topic.

Dooley Foundation Reception

The recently formed Monterey Peninsula chapter of the Dr. Thomas A. Dooley Foundation will hold a reception on Sunday afternoon at the Splendrit restaurant from 2:00-4:00 o'clock in honor of Dr. Dooley's mother who will come to the Peninsula for the event.

All persons interested in the late Dr. Dooley's medical mission work in Laos and who wish to see similar work carried on with Tibetan refugees in northern India are invited to the reception.

Dr. Verne F. Chaney Jr., a local resident, and Dr. Wesley C. Fielding, both of whom served with Dr. Dooley in Laos, headed the foundation of the local chapter of the Dooley foundation. Others helping to raise $12,000 to send a walk-in mobile unit equipped for surgery to the Tibetan refugees in India are Frank Shropshire, Rocky Bowser, Betty Schaeffer, Richard Mack, Robert McKever, Richard Osborne, Lee Harbick, Jeanne Marie Hammond, Dr. Richard Still, Gladys Johnston and Peggy Dewar.

The mobile surgery unit, consisting of a truck with lean-to tent, will be exhibited at Sunday's gathering. It has been obtained on credit from its manufacturer and will be sent to India as a gift from the people of the Monterey Peninsula when the necessary $12,000 for its purchase has been promised. Dr. Dooley's MEDICO organization has become affiliated with the Peace Corps. His mother, brothers and doctors who worked with him are working to establish the foundation in his name. It will be a people-to-people project, patterned on Dr. Dooley's MEDICO work in Laos.

Welsh Choral Conductor Here

Many parties last week honored Dorothy Adams Jeremiah, Welsh choral conductor, adjudicator and lecturer, who came to Carmel after lecturing on classroom methods and choral technology to teachers attending summer sessions at the University of Indiana. While here, she visited her old friend, Welsh baritone Mostyn Lewis in San Francisco. Mr. Lewis accompanied her back to Carmel to renew acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. Caillon Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Prosser.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press, Dial Carmel MA 4-8881.

Art On The Peninsula

A new show of the work of members of the Carmel Art Association opened last week and will be on exhibit at the Association's Galleries on Dolores Street until October 4.

Saturday, additional paintings will be added when the Zellerbach show, sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts, is removed from exhibition in the main gallery.

Eugene Baker was chairman of the jury which selected work for the September Art Association show. Members of his committee were: Leonard Hellyer, Alex Gonzales, Ann Rugh, Gene Emore and Walter Landaker.

Tomorrow is the last day to see the Zellerbach show of contemporary Italian paintings, collected by former Ambassador to Italy, J. D. Zellerbach, and Mrs. Zellerbach, now on exhibit in the main gallery of the Carmel Art Association. The pictures are being shown here under the auspices of the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts.

The show is comprehensive. Some of the pictures show influence by already established contemporary painters and groups, others are distinctly individual, all are representative of the work of younger painters abroad and exciting from this viewpoint. Evidenced is the care with which Ambassador and Mrs. Zellerbach selected the paintings which will not be shown publicly again.

The local AFA chapter is to be congratulated for giving this community the unique opportunity to compare contemporary European painting with that being done in this country. Several hundred AFA members attended the champagne preview of the Zellerbach show last week.

The Artists Guild of America Inc. is exhibiting watercolors and drawings by William Ross Cameron at their gallery in the Golden Bough Court, Monte Verde Street and Ocean Avenue, through September.

Mr. Cameron is a scholarship graduate of the California College of Arts and Crafts. His watercolors and prints have been shown extensively in San Francisco, also elsewhere in the United States and Europe. He has won numerous prizes and honorable mentions. His work has been reproduced and published in French and English periodicals.

Subjects for his watercolors and drawings include scenes of the Bay area, Oregon, Ferndale, Georgetown and Europe. Eight nude studies are also being exhibited.

An invitational preview of the Irene Lagorio show at the Laky Galleries, San Carlos Street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues, will be held tomorrow evening. The show of her mosaics, "jewel" painting and serigraphs will be shown at the Laky Galleries through September.

Joshua Meador, Carmel Highlands artist, won first prize in the landscapes or marines class at the current Lodi Grape Festival and National Wine Show art competition. He submitted a marine oil.

Paulist Mission Starts Wednesday

The meetings will be held every Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in Carmel Mission Chapel, and will include a lecture and a film.

Father Walter Anthony Paulist missionary who will conduct the series of lectures, said, "anyone desiring to understand the teachings of Catholicism is welcome, including Catholics who wish to enlarge their knowledge, those who are about to marry a Catholic or who have married a Catholic, and baptized Catholics who have never made their first confession or first communion."

The free course will continue for 12 consecutive Wednesdays.

Landscape Aforewing

In the same class S. C. Juan of Carmel won an honorable mention for his picture, Evening Light. A. G. Warschawsky won a similar award for his Self Portrait in the portraits and still life class.

Family Visits Mr. Horning Roy A. Horning is a patient in the Samuel Merritt Hospital in Oakland. Recently he has been visited by his two sons and his daughter who live in the East. Youth Center Budget Passed To School Recreation Board ings will materially add to the budget program.

The proposed budget that was presented to us was prepared about April 20 and appended sheets indicated that during the past year the adult board received a total of $10,255.75 from the Laguna Seca Race Track clean-up, the Crosby Golf concession and the center fund drive. No estimate from the new concessions is indicated, and in the proposed budget the previous year's income shown in the appended sheets appeared as $8,300 this year. In view of these apparent inconsistencies, I move that the center clarify these matters by answering the following questions:

"1. Are these specific reasons for anticipating a decline of nearly $2000 from these sources?"

"2. What is a reasonable estimate on what may be expected from the new Pebble Beach concession rights?"

Dr. Snyder again seconded Dr. Newton's motion and board president Dr. Grant Fletcher directed that the budget information from the center must be in the hands of recreation commission members in plenty of time so they can arrive at a recommendation to submit to the school board by its next meeting September 27.

Speaking from the audience, P. A. McCreery, center adult board president, promised the board the issues would be clarified in writing and asked that some representative of the adult board be permitted to attend the recreation commission meeting, so that on-the-spot questions could be answered. Dr. Fletcher agreed some center representative should be present.

Art Commissioners Study Puppet Stage, Plan Museum Tea

Arts Commissioners, yesterday afternoon, learned work on their proposed memorial art museum in the council chamber at city hall will begin within the next 60 days, according to the estimate of City Clerk Larry Rose.

Funds for the project were budgeted last month by the city council. The council chamber walls will be paneled, cost $800; lighting installed, $100; and walls and panels painted, $350.

The museum, at the suggestion of Commissioner Richard Lofton, prime organizer of the undertaking, will display donated works of deceased local artists who have contributed to the development of this community as an art center.

When the museum work is completed, the public will be invited to view the pictures on the council chamber walls at a tea, commissioners decided yesterday.

They also heard Commissioner Glenn Kearns announce that 4,500 persons attended 12 commission-sponsored Forest Theater Sunday Afternoon programs this summer and that contributions from the public collected at these programs amounted to $380.66.

Commissioners decided to allocate this money as follows: $150 to offset next year's Forest Theater Sunday Afternoon operating costs; $130 for capital outlay; $100 for contingencies.

They discussed the $400 budgeted by the city council to underwrite a band concert at the Forest Theater and decided this event should be open to the public with a paid admission charge. The concert to take place in the spring prior to the resumption of the free Sunday programs so there will be no confusion in the public mind between the free and paid admission performances.

Commissioners Kearns and Geza St. Galy were appointed to survey the Forest Theater site to see if a location can be found for a puppet theater on the grounds, as requested by Puppeteers of Carmel. This group wishes the city council to give permission to construct concrete pads on which two buildings, removed from the Forest Theater stage, may be placed for a puppet theater, also construct outdoor seats for the puppet theater under a shed roof. The group indicated all work would be done by them. Arts commissioners next month, following a report from Mr. Kearns and Mr. St. Galy, will decide whether or not to recommend the proposal to the city council. Mr. St. Galy showed a sketch of the proposed puppet theatre to other commissioners yesterday.

At the request of Dr. Robert Newton, school trustee, Commissioners Lofton and St. Galy will recommend to the school board on acceptance of a painting donated to the school district by E. Cashion MacLennan.

Kurt Koebig Heads Chest Drive In Business District

Kurt Koebig, local businessman who is again Carmel Business Chairman for the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest Fund Drive has announced the September 19 opening of the 1961-62 Drive which will raise the funds for the twenty agencies serving the Peninsula.

In making the announcement Mr. Koebig named the volunteer businessmen who are giving of their time as well as their money and made a plea for consideration of that fact.

Koebig said, "It will save your time and theirs if you will see them when they call but if you cannot see them on their first call tell them when it will be convenient. Don't waste their time and yours. In the past they have had to return as many as nine or ten times, which, of course, is an annoyance to you as well as to the volunteer worker."

"If you do not wish to donate, and that is your privilege, tell the volunteer so that he may save your time and his and not return again and again."

"These are business men, your neighbors and friends who are making a sacrifice when they volunteer to do this work. If you can't see them when they make their first call make an appointment and have your donation ready for their second call."

The volunteers are: Emmett L. Blair, L. Crank, Dick Duhring, Fred Hollenbeck, Harold Nielsen, Leland Sears, Lars Svendsgaard, William Woolsey, Kenneth Brown, G. Burchfield, Louis Conlan, Stanley Ewig, August Johnson, Murie Ogden, Barnet Segal, H. Wolff, and George Yates.

The Chest budget this year is $163,000, an all time high.

CONDITIONING CLASSES AT HIGH SCHOOL

Conditioning classes for men and women, 18 years old and up, are being conducted at Carmel High School by Kenneth Matthew under the sponsorship of William Wakefield, recreation program director for the Carmel Unified School District.

The classes meet Wednesday evenings, 7:30 o'clock. Volleyball is played after class sessions.

Art, Produce Booths Added To High School Scholarship Carnival

Two new features, art and produce booths, will be added to the annual Carmel High School Scholarship Carnival on October 7 which will be preceded by a parade through town and a rally at Devendorf Plaza on October 6.

The art booth will have for sale, at $15.00 each, pictures donated by 20-25 local artists, many of them members of the Carmel Art Association, who command prices of $100-$200 for the work they will give to the carnival. An artist-in action will be at the art booth during carnival hours, also a local cartoonist who will make profile sketches for a nominal fee.

The produce booth will offer vegetables and fruit donated by Salinas and Carmel Valley growers. Contents of this booth will be priced inexpensively. Both these booths are projects of the High School P-TA unit.

Arne Halle is chairman for events sponsored by the High School P-TA unit. The Girls' League at the high school is co-sponsor of the carnival with the P-TA. All funds from the day-long event are used to provide college scholarships for senior students who will graduate in June.

Classes and clubs sponsor the many attractions and concessions offered at the carnival. The senior class is in charge of the auction, car wash, and bingo. Any donations to the auction for the scholarship carnival will be appreciated. For pick-up service or added information telephone MA 4-7457 after 6:00 o'clock or OL 9-2844. The juniors will staff the coin in the fountain, gold fish, and pull-a-string concessions. The sophomore class will sponsor the cake walk, wheel of fortune, and the baseball roll.

Club concessions are: CSF, basketball throw and sponge throw; French Club, apple basket throw; GAA, dart throw; FHA, candied apples; Leaders' Club, grab bag; Letterman's Club, football throw and fun house; Rally Club, bead guess and bowling; Ski Club, snowball throw; Spanish Club, record roll; Girls' League, food; and TOTS, nursery.

The prize committee, headed by Sheryl Adams, is already busy collecting prizes donated for the concessions by merchants in Carmel, Carmel Valley, Pebble Beach, and Carmel Highlands. Sub-chairmen of this committee are Vicki Hutchinson, Nancy Baxter, Susie Sands, Martha Campbell, Mari Pat Palmer, Tasha Seeders, Tasha Doner, Tamara Truesdell, Frances Antoncich, and Coral Creighton.

SANDBERGS INJURED

Two Carmel persons received minor injuries last night at 7:15 o'clock on Agujito Road when a car driven by Donald H. Sandberg, 31, Box 5543, Carmel, collided with another vehicle driven by Richard G. Ross, 18, of Seaside.

Isabel Sandberg, 31, and Sylvia Sandberg, ten, received minor injuries which were self-treated, according to the California Highway Patrol report.

Letter To The Editor ...

mit for a community sign on an approach to Greenfield comes at an inappropriate time. If, as your County Counsel points out, its approval would jeopardize the County's pending case in the Appellate Court, decision on this application should certainly be deferred. The foundation of important phases of roadside control through zoning is at stake. All else should, at present, be regarded as of secondary importance.

Very sincerely yours,
Bailey Justice
President.

Editor's note: We are very grateful to the Roadside Council for this letter. It sustains a point we attempted to make in this column immediately after Judge Brazil's decision.

AMBULANCE, FIRE CALLS

The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department answered two ambulance and one fire calls this week.

Tuesday at 5:40 o'clock in the evening all apparatus and 24 men responded to a general alarm at Pine Inn where a chimney was smoking. Paper backed up in the flue proved to be the cause of the smoke. There was no damage.

Last night at 11:40 o'clock volunteer firemen took the Red Cross Ambulance to Pico and Guadalupe Streets on a medical emergency call and administered oxygen to John Wright. Later in the evening, 12:55 o'clock, they returned to the same address at the request of a physician and took Mr. Wright to the Community Hospital Annex.

Monday night, 8:45 o'clock, firemen transported Dr. Drummond McKay of May Court on Mission Street to the Community Hospital in the Red Cross ambulance following a fall at Pine Inn during which he presumably suffered head cuts.

degree in economics in 1937 and the same year married her husband, a college classmate. Until World War II, they lived in Sequoia National Park where Mr. Blanks was a ranger with the National Park Service. During the war, Mr. Blanks served as a military government Army officer in the South Pacific. Mrs. Blanks came with her sons to live in Carmel at that time.

This morning Mrs. Blanks stated, "I have always been greatly interested in the Carmel school system. My work this past year with the Citizens Educational Committee increased this interest and led me to accept the appointment to the school board."
